

WALLARKADEN

ABOUT THE PROJECT

The office building WALLARKADEN will offer state-of-the-art office space including underground parking in Cologne's top city-center location, the historically significant Rudolfplatz. The new development with approximately 20,000m² of gross floor space is being created under the direction of the world-renowned London-based architecture office Caruso St John Architects. The facility will provide highly efficient office space with flexible layout options and an innovative technology. In the ground floor areas high quality catering concepts as well as retail utilization are intended. The new building will be built according to Green Building Criteria, with the clear objective of attaining LEED Gold certification.
